Since the last publication of the newsletter in 2001, the Plantation Singers have been very busy, averaging more than 100 shows each year. The group has made 3 trips abroad so far, performing in Naples, Italy for the Relais & Chateaux conference, South Korea for the Sori World Music Festival, and Spain for the Gospel Festival.

The Plantation Singers have been singing to thrilled crowds for over 8 years now and take a unique entertaining approach. This approach is based on the group's ability to get a crowd stomping, singing, and clapping and by inviting members of the audience onto the stage to join in on percussion and vocals. The group has performed on numerous local and national television programs and has performed at many of the areas top venues. In addition, the group has received the prestigious Three Sisters award for historic preservation from the City of Charleston for their efforts in preserving the music of the Lowcountry.

History of the Plantation Singers

The Plantation Singers of Charleston, SC are a professional a cappella singing group renowned locally, nationally and internationally for their singing of the music of the Lowcountry. This group of very talented women is special in that each has a lifetime of musical experience that began with the music of the southern church. The Plantation Singers were first created in June 1996 with the assistance of David Archer of Archer Music Service, the group's manager and booking agent; Mitchell Crosby of JMC

Charleston; and David Ramey of Middleton Place Plantation. The group's director, Lynnette White, has utilized her degree in music and theatre to help create a very positive and uplifting entertainment experience. Locally, the group has performed on the "Midday Show" and "Randolph's Journal" on Channel 5, Randolph Miller's "Inspirational Sounds" on Channel 5, and Liz Brisacher-Sharp's "Two O' Clock Sharp" on Channel 36. Nationally, the group has performed on Gordon Elliott's "Door Knock Dinners" and P. Allen

Smith Gardens on the Garden Channel. Internationally, the group performed for the Relais & Chateaux Hotel conference in Naples, Italy; the Sori World Music Festival in South Korea, and the Gospel Festival in Spain. The group has also performed in most of Charleston's historic sites and homes, as well as major resorts, plantations and reception sites. The Plantation Singers play an important role in the preservation of the spiritual and sacred music of the Lowcountry of South Carolina. The group has been awarded the prestigious Three Sisters Award given by the Committee To Save The City. This award was given in recognition of the Plantation Singers' contri-

but ion to the special character of Charleston. Local artist Rhett Thurman has also featured the group in an art series, which can be found on display in the Wells Gallery in downtown Charleston.

They have performed before General Wm. Westmoreland, the Prince of Scotland, Joel Silver (Hollywood producer), the Mayor of Charleston Joseph Riley, the Cato family of Cato Fashion stores and many, many, more. The Plantation Singers are well known for their ability to reach out and draw a crowd into their performance. The shoe tapping, hand clapping, and sing along atmosphere causes the audience to smile big, hug their neighbors and ask for more.

We hope to meet you someday and be sure to send us some feedback so we can share with you our performance schedule and our recent news.
